Working Title	Write His Answer—A Bible Study for Christian Writers
Theme	To inspire and encourage Christian writers to respond to God's call to write.
Audience	All Christian writers
How Will Reach Audience	Conferences, seminars, workshops, email (3,186 subscribers), Facebook (3,086 friends), Twitter (3,174 followers), blog (229 followers)
How Differs	The books for Christian writers are primarily “how-to” manuals—how to write, how to market, how to connect with your readers. . . . To my knowledge there is no book for Christian writers that focuses on their unique struggles with biblical answers and space to “Respond to God's Call to Write.” This book becomes a journal of their growth as writers.
Qualifications	Over 1,000 sales to 105 different Christian periodicals Author of ten books, compiler/editor of three books Instructor at over 70 Christian writers' conferences with some keynotes Taught over 50 one and two-day seminars throughout U.S. Founder (1983) and director of Greater Philadelphia Christian Writers Fellowship and yearly conference Director of Colorado Christian Writers Conference (1997 to present) Leader of critique groups for over for 37 years Columnist for three years for The Christian Writer Publisher and editor, Ampelos Press, of 14 titles for other authors Freelance editor
Length	Approx. 48,000 words 33 devotionals plus resource section
Availability	Available immediately
Summary	As Christian writers put themselves on the front lines by seeking to write God's answer for our hurting world, they need encouragement to overcome the unique spiritual battles they will face. Problems of loneliness, rejection, self-doubts, procrastination, and others will be addressed from personal experience and, more importantly, from a biblical viewpoint.
