

Resurrect the Past

2018 Write His Answer Workshop

By JP Robinson

As we go through the today's session, answer the following questions based on what you hear. If you miss something, don't worry—I'm happy to email you a completed copy. Reach out at jprobinsonbooks@gmail.com.

Why is writing about the past more important now than ever before?

Jot notes next to each of the 5 major themes below as we explore them together.

Comprehension check:

What do you do when you PRAE?

Besides being fun to do, why is playing with your readers' emotions actually an effective way to get your point across when writing about the past?

“I don't write books—I create riveting experiences.”

–JP Robinson

Individual Exercise:

Write an idea for a plot set in each of the following time periods.

The American Revolution
The Trail of Tears

The Great Depression
The Holocaust

Hiroshima
The Civil War

Herodian Era
6 Day War

JPROBINSONBOOKS.COM

“I don’t write books—I create riveting experiences.”

–JP Robinson